Vilmorin & C^{ie} is one of the world leaders of the seeds sector. Its business centres around three activities, two of which represent its core business: vegetable seeds and field seeds, along with garden seeds.

No. 2 worldwide for vegetable seeds and No.6 worldwide for Field Seeds, Vilmorin's ambition is to contribute to meeting world food challenges by developing more efficient seeds with better yields, better disease resistance, and better adaptation to different climates and regions. Long-term planning is key to success since on average it takes 7 to 10 years to create a new seed variety.

Vilmorin seeds are distributed to over 100 countries worldwide. They are the world's main producer of a wide range of vegetable seeds, including carrots, lettuce, tomatoes, peppers and radishes.
